refer to corporations partnerships, or sole proprietorships that engage in the import, export, production, sale, use, or storage of industrial precursor chemicals.

Article 6

A company hereunder shall maintain detailed books and records containing the following particulars regarding its industrial precursor chemicals for inspection.

1. Category A precursor chemicals: Procedures for import, export, production, sales, use and storage, types, quantities, premises, trading counterparties, customs declaration numbers, and invoice numbers.

2. Category B precursor chemicals: Procedures for import, export, types, quantities, premises, trading counterparties, customs declaration numbers, and numbers of payment records.

Within one month after the end of each quarter, a company hereunder shall declare its Category A industrial precursor chemicals in that quarter by filing a photocopy of the books and records for the quarter with the competent authority or the agencies or entities appointed or delegated by the competent authority.

The formats of the books and records hereunder shall be separately prescribed and announced by the competent authority, so are any modifications thereof.

Article 6-1

If a company fails to file the declaration hereunder or files a false declaration, the competent authority may order the company to file monthly declarations.

If a company that is ordered to file monthly declarations complies with the order, the competent authority may lift the order based on the circumstances.

Article 7

The competent authority may inspect the books, records, and premises of a company, and the company shall not evade, impede or reject the inspection.

The inspection hereunder shall be conducted by random spot check. The competent authority or the agency or entity appointed or delegated by it shall designate examiners to perform the spot checks with the following emphases:

1. Daily statements and monthly statements of materials used for production.
2. Warehouse books and records of incoming and outgoing raw materials and finished products.
3. Trading vouchers, books, and records.
4. Certification documents relating to imports and exports.
5. Production, manufacturing, and storage places.

When entering factories and business places, examiners designated by the competent authority or an agency or entity appointed or delegated by it shall present their identification documents.

If a company evades, impedes or rejects the inspection, the competent authority or the agency or entity appointed or delegated by it may request the local police to assist in conducting the inspection.

Article 8

The books, records, and the supporting documents under Article 6 of these Regulations shall be kept for three years.

Article 9

The Regulations shall come into force from the date of their promulgation.

The articles amended on April 29, 2011 shall come into force from July 1, 2011.
